FULL STACK DEVELOPER INTERN

You will start in one of Berlin's hottest early stage health-tech startups with a social impact. As FULL STACK DEVELOPER you will work closely with the Founding Team. We provide you with everything you need to build an industry-changing product.

ABOUT US: Pflegista is the online job platform for nurses and care takers that turns the application process upside down by making the hiring companies apply to candidates who are vetted by Pflegista.

YOUR MISSION
- Be a visionary: Design the frontend and develop the backend and therefore define the functions and user interaction of product features of our platform
- Be a connector: Conceptualize workflows and validate them with different stakeholders our Head of Product and the CEO
- Be a pioneer: Develop new, cutting-edge features and the foundation of our platform from concepts and wireframes through mockups and prototypes

YOUR PROFILE
- Skillset: You have already used your profound experience to create impressive web applications or platforms in the past
- Customer orientation: You fully admit to customer-centricity when developing new features and work along the customer journey to identify and understand the needs of our customers
- All-round Talent: You can handle multiple tasks, switch priorities as needed
- Hands-on: You have a hands-on mentality with strong communication skills
- Open-minded: You have an open and professional approach towards people and new situations
- Efficient: You can easily work in an independent and goal-oriented manner

OUR PITCH
- Join the best team ever
- A state-of-the-art tech stack
- Be a part of the journey: early stage startup with a social impact
- Office Space in the creative environment of the Startup Incubator Berlin shared with many other start-ups and founders with diverse backgrounds
- Flexible working hours and structures
- Team and networking events, table-tennis, unlimited coffee and after-work beer is included
- And one of the best is yet to come: prospect of full-time job or working student position.

WANNA START? Send your application to Matti via team@pflegista.de